OLARE MOTOROGI, MAASAI MARA

Mahali Mzuri curates a spectacular luxury safari camp experience perched in the very heart of East Africa. Perched on the gentle hills of Kenya's Olare Motorogi Conservancy, Mzuri's autonomous suites command awe-inspiring vistas over endless grasslands speckled by majestic Baobab trees. Conceived by esteemed safari enthusiast Sir Richard Branson, Mahali Mzuri offers a comprehensive itinerary where excellence is the law.

Singlehandedly taking glamping to new heights, guests may revel at Mahali's contemporary amenities and design considerations while retaining an off-the-beaten-track sense of adventure. Twelve tent pavilions channel 19th-century colonial excitement with authentic East African romanticism. Cantilevered lookout decks and wide openings embrace the supernatural surroundings and seemingly infinite vistas. Dynamic interior layouts are garnished with exotic local woods, fine artwork, and sumptuous leather upholstery, invoking the excitement of the hunt. Even so, a dazzling selection of high-end furnishings and chaise lounges speak to truly top-tier design configurations perfect for lavish entertaining. Twelve sumptuous bedrooms push the bounds of outback luxury with stunning ensuites and even a clawfoot soaking tub perched before grassland panoramas. Mahali Mzuri includes a massage pavilion and chic speakeasy-style bar invoking the safari escapades of the 20th century's most famed adventurers.

Each of the luxury tented suites sits on a raised platform complete with a large deck overlooking the pristine landscape. Front row seats to the savage untouched beauty of Africa abound, witnessing the mythical migration patterns of the world's most majestic creatures.
