Perched in the heart of the Palmeraie, this palatial residence brims with eternal elegance and Imperial pomp. A master of impressions, Palais Ronsard's ebony wrought iron gates navigate into the stunning interiors of designer Gil Dez. Famed for his work on the monumental Villa Gallici in Aix-en-Provence, Dez curates a fantastic vision of kaleidoscopic inspiration. From Art Deco, neo-Moorish, Baroque, and Tuscan, this luxury vacation home will leave the most discerning aesthete breathless. Palais Ronsard comprises 28 suites and six private pavilions, each outfitted with individual heated pools. An eclectic mosaic of influences comes together under a motif of Age of Discoveries exoticism and unfettered indulgence. The restaurants carefully revisit the best Moroccan cuisine infused with Mediterranean and global inspiration. Supplied by a private vegetable garden, only the finest ingredients are procured for culinary masterpieces signed off by acclaimed culinary master Alexandre Thomas. Guests will discover a vast roster of wellness facilities, including fitness facilities, a spa, a sauna, and a hammam.

A five-acre nature reserve awaits. Within these magical grounds, technicolor foliage unfolds without limits. An implacable soft fragrance shrouds an estate teeming with palm trees, Pierre de Ronsard roses, and centuries-old olive groves. A sublime sensory experience is curated, where the lapping of fountains and rocky waterfalls merge with exotic birdsong. Soothing pools enclosed by two colonnaded galleries and a lagoon-styled pool perched pool at the hotel's heart account for a wonderfully disarming experience worthy of the world's most fabulous luxury vacation homes.
